Routine Notes.

[To be used only for notes, requisitions, etc., not intended for permanent record.]

(1) In the next year's calendar is the 2nd Jan.y shown as a holiday as the New Years day falls on a Sunday?

(2) What is the practice in this respect? Do we follow the Negotiable Instruments Regulations or are there any separate rules or standing orders on the subject?

17.12.21

(3) A copy of the Calendar for 1922 is put up and January 2nd is not shown as a holiday. Previous files as to holidays are put up. As regards the applicability of the Negotiable Instruments Regulations Rule attention is invited to page 9 of Fin. file 218-12 (Vide flag E) which throws some light on the subject.

According to G.O. 210 Gen 6244-92/Gen 216-13-2 dy 13th Feb 1914 the Xmas holidays are from 24th Dec to 1st Jan.y.

(5) Next year as the 1st falls on Sunday, orders will have to be obtained if the 2nd Jan.y 1922 has to be treated as a holiday or not—

1st Jan. 1911 fell on Sunday when the old rules were in force. Subsequent to 1911 this is the first time on which 1st Jan falls on Sunday for orders

(6) As in the holiday memo just circulated, it has been ordered that 2nd Jan.y is also a holiday in the G.R.S, orders are requested as to whether the holiday may be modified & the 2nd also being observed as a holiday throughout the State.

(14) Under the Standing Orders, the Christmas holidays are given from the 24th to the 1st January both days inclusive. The 1st January 1922 falls on a Sunday and the 2nd has therefore been notified as a public holiday under the Negotiable Instruments Regulation. It is also a Post Office holiday and it has been declared to be a holiday in British India and in the Civil and Military Station. The question of treating the 2nd January next as a general holiday was considered in Council on the 20th instant when the following resolution was recorded:-

Page 4 of office Notes

> "Whenever the 1st January happens to be a Sunday, the 2nd may be treated as a general holiday in continuation."

The above resolution may be graciously approved.

(15) 2. For the current year, in anticipation of approval a notification declaring the 2nd January next as a general holiday has been issued so that it may be published in the Gazette of the 22nd instant.
